Updating to the latest software.

Our recommendation is to upgrade your Yealink device's software to the latest version, right after installing Yealink USB Connect. This will not only enable you to utilise the latest features and functionalities of your device but also resolve any possible bugs or problems you may encounter during the initial installation process.

By keeping your device's software up to date, you can guarantee its reliability, security, and optimal performance, ensuring that you have a seamless and satisfying user experience.
